Fix it, you worthless swine

11:22, 11 April 2023, James Meng <james.meng@yandex.com>:

Good morning.

In the early hours of 28 March I was illegally deported from Germany to Belgium. At 4:30am a group of five police officers and a massive police dog came to my door, opened it, handcuffed me, and packed my things and took me to the Belgian border at Aachen, where I was then freed and handed over to the Belgian police, who had not been notified of anything until the very last minute.

In Germany there were no grounds for my deportation. I had not even been permitted to have the second asylum interview, after someone cut the electricity to the government complex during their first attempt. The interview was never rescheduled. Additionally, I had applied for a medical deportation ban on the basis of many medical reports documenting the serious poisonings I have suffered over the years at the hands of the US Government and the ethnic Jewish organized crime interests that they have used to destroy my life. But the Germans also refused to complete the medical review, and then issued an erroneous decision through the Stuttgart administrative court where they refused to review any of the evidence I provided and accused me of completely fabricating the entire case.

There were, therefore, no grounds for the deportation order. I do not have a copy of it - I was not given one, even when I asked - and I presume that this is because it was illegal for them to have issued it.

But that is not the current problem. The current problem is that upon my deportation, you also failed to return my foreign identity documents to me, namely, the attached New York combined driver's license and passport card, as well as an old Russian notarized copy of my expired American passport.

I have attached images of these documents for your reference, as well as an image of my last German ID. Please return my documents to my Belgian attorney IMMEDIATELY:
